Board of Estimate Asks Him Sarenstic Questions, Advises Him to Refrench His Brougham, and Cuts His Estimate-Ex-aminations for Plimley's Process Servers Robert J. Wright, Mayor Strong's Commissioner of Correction, asked the Board of Estinate yesterday for $29,600 for supplies in the Tombs for 1897, against $24,498,16 in 1896, alleging that there had been an increase in the census of the City Prison of 20,82 per cent. Jacob A. Rlis, who represented the Confederation of Good Government Clubs, spoke against granting the increase. He said that the figures resented by Mr. Wright were false, and that instead of a daily average of 556 inmates in the Tombs in 1896 there were actually only 461, or an increase of two over the previous year.

The Comptroller wanted Mr. Wright to explain the difference in the figures, but instead of doing so the Commissioner called on Book-keeper Benn to give the necessary information. Well, this is the first time I ever heard of a bookkeeper running a city department," said Young Winchell was attending a high

"Oh, the books in my department are all right," retorted Mr. Wright.
"They may be, but you don't seem to know anything about them." said Mr. Fitch.

right, "reforted Mr. Wright.

"They may be, but you don't seem to know anything about them," said Mr. Fitch.

"But I have no deputy," said the Commissioner.

"I would not allow five cents to a department whose books are in such shape," said the Comptroller. "Mr. Mayor," he added, "I think you had better send the Commissioners of Accounts to the Correction office. The books there need looking after."

"I'll do so," replied the Mayor.

Then Bookkeeper Benn explained that it was customary to tack on 20 per cent. to the appropriation of the preceding year when making ught he provisional estimate. Comptroller, and the estimate for supplies at the Tombs was fixed at last year's figures.

"By the way, Commissioner," said Mr. Fitch, "how about your brougham, and how much did it cont?"

The Commissioner explained that the brougham was bought befor the Donariments of Char, "Five hundred and forty-five dollars," replied Mr. Wright, "and I only use it in stormy and cold weather."

The Commissioner explained that the brougham was bought befor the Donariments of Char, "In the Donariments of Char, "I day after the separation had taken place, and that he had picked it out himself. He also admitted that it was purchased twenty-six days after the separation had taken place, and that he had picked it out himself. He also admitted that the driver for the brougham cost the city's separation had taken place, and that he had picked it out himself. He also admitted that the driver for the brougham cost the city's separation had taken place, and that the Commissioners of Unartites and Correction always had carriages at their disposal. "I don't care if Beeizebub himself was a dispense of the main graphed the Commissioner and the matter was dropped.

"Are you still in the mapure business?"

I am not, but I believe there is a club named after me."

"Are you still in the mapure business?"

I am "replied the Commissioner, and the matter was dropped.

"Not since I have been there," replied the Warden.
"Of course no such thing could occur under your immaculate administration," said the Comptroller, sarcastically, and the budget for the Correction Department was fixed at $471,000, or $34,000 less than last year. The salary of Superintendent Pillsbury of the Blackwell's Island penitentiary was increased from $2,500 to $3,500 a year, and the pay of a number of supers was raised from $700 to $990.

Col. Waring asked for $2,999,002.40 for the Street Cleaning Department for 1807, and he got it. The Colonel also asked for an additional $35,000 in the sweeping account, because, he

Col. Waring asked for $2,999,002.40 for the Street Cleaning Department for 1897, and he got it. The Colonel also asked for an additional $50,000 in the sweeping account, because, he explained, more sweepers were needed in the annexed district, but the increase was not allowed. The total appropriation of 1897 is $14.804 less than that of 1896.

Commissioner Haffen of the Department of Street Improvements for the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth wards asked for $955,340, and he was backed in his demands by a large delegation of the officers of the various taxpayers, associations of the "north side." He also wanted $103,000 with which to build a bicycle track on both sides of Jerome avenue from Macomb's Dam Bridge to the city line, a distance of 646 miles. Capt. J. H. Walters, Chairman of the Committee on Streets and Highways of the New York City Consulate of the League of American Wheelmen, spoke in favor of the appropriation. Comptroller Fitch suggested that the wheelmen go to the Legislature for authority for the city to raise the money, and Senator Guy, who was present, offered to take charge of the bill. Corporation Counsel Scott said he would draw up the bill, and the wheelmen was fixed at $800.750, or $107,750 more than 1890.

Commissioner of Jurors Plimley asked for $5,300 for process servers. Comptroller Fitch askied if these men were civil service appointees.

"They are not," replied Major Plimley.

"Then I object to this item," said Mr. Fitch askied if these men were civil service appointees that all departments should be treated alike. I know that I could not hire a man for my office without the consent of the Civil Service Board, and I see no reason why Major Plimley should have the privilege." Mr. Fitch then told how a messenger in his office who had carried money to the banks for the Comptroller's office for thirty years and serven containing the supposition.

"I think if you ask the Civil Service Commissioners to make the place 'confidential,' they will do so," said the Corporation Counsel.

"Ah, but I did ask them and they refused," retorted Mr. Fitch.

"If that is so," commented Mr. Scott, "the

The player agreed to extend the civil service classification to cover the process servers, and the item was allowed.

MASON KILLED BY A FALL.

Another Badly Injured-False Work in a New Building Gave Way,

By the giving way of some false work in a new building at the northeast corner of Bleecker and Greene streets yesterday morning two men were precipitated from the seventh floor to the second floor, and one was instantly killed. The other was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital in a

The building is numbered 105 on Bleecker street and runs back to Greene street, forming 186 and 188 on that street. It is built with brick walls, eight stories high, and has steel floor beams, between which are to be jack arches

The victims of the accident were masons, who were putting in these jack arches at the seventh floor. The second floor was already complete, and the third floor was so nearly fintshed that only one or two spaces were still to be flied at and the third floor was so nearly finished that only one or two spaces were still to be flied at the front of the building. The false work, consisting of light arches of wood, upon which the brick work was to be laid, was in place there. Above, on the same part of the seventh floor, were John Burkhardt and George Ries, the masons who were making arches on top of similar wooden false work.

The steel floor beams are about 4 feet apart and the false work is made on squares of about that size on each side. In order to get these squares out after the arches above them are complete and set, the woodwork is a triffe narrower than the clear space between the steel beams in their centre. The workmen slip the light square of woodwork in on one side first, where it catches on the top of the T at the bottom of the beam, and then, pressing it up on the same line on the other side, fasten it there with steel wedges or keys.

Probably no one will ever know just what was wrong with the square that Burkhardt and flies were working over, but about the middle of the forenoun it gave way, and the men fell straight down through the spaces between the beams of the intervening floors, until they struck the false work at the third floor. Their weight carried this away, and they struck the solid floor below, One of them rolled over the open edge of this floor and fell to the street.

The building belongs to Caroline Brierley of West Brighton, and was being creeted by E. G. Garland as architect and contractor. The foreman of the work was Charles E. Smith of West Brighton, Smith was arrested, but was afterward paroled by the Coroner.

The silver service which the city of Brooklyn to present to the new cruiser bearing her name was yesterday delivered to the Brooklyn name was yesterday delivered to the Brooklyn Warehouse and Storage Company in Schermerhorn street by the Alvin Manufacturing Company. The 341 piaces composing it were placed in a wault, and will remain there until put on exhibition. No date has yet been fixed for the presentation ceremony, owing to the uncertainty about the arrival of the cruiser at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

SALVATION ARMY'S CHRISTMAS. It Will Feed the Hungry and Give Away Clothing and Toys,

Bustle is the order of the day at the Salvation Army headquarters during the holidays. Everyody is running here, there, and everywhere, talking in that imysterious, way that seems to belong to Christmas time, for they are going to have great Christmas doings. Thursday a tree over sixty feet high is to be erected in Memorial Hall, and on Friday night it will bloom with 2,000 pairs of shoes and stockings, which will be distributed at 7 o'clock to that number of poor vomen and children. The tree will contain many other presents which will also be distributed. Major Wallace Winchell, who is known in the Army as the "Iron-Lunged-Man," will personate Santa Claus, A better man couldn't have been found for the rôle, for the Major's voice can be heard a mile when he

Was Supposed to Be Lost, NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Dec. 22,-After an beence of ten months in a mining district in British Columbia, Prof. E. L. Nason of Rutgers here this morning, Prof. Nason left New Brunswick on March 16 to manage the hydraulic mining of gold on the Columbia River, sixty miles above Revelstoke, for the United States and British Columbia Hydraulic Mining Company. On account of the extreme cold weather the operations are suspended in October, and no work can be done until late in the spring. Prof. Nason started from the mining camp for Revel work can be done until late in the spring. Prof.

Nason started from the mining camp for Revelstoke early in November with a pack train of twenty-seven horses.
Shortly after starting a heavy snow storm set in and snow fell for a week. When the storm subsided, there was over three feet of snow on the level. The horses could not make their way through the snow, and as there was no way of getting food for them, they were all shot. The party was composed of seven men besides Prof.
Nason, and they continued the journey on foot.
The thermometer registered from fifteen to twenty degrees below zero, and the party made their way along the Columbia River with very great difficulty amid much suffering from cold.
At one point on the river Prof. Nason and another man in the party fell through the ice and were rescued with difficulty.
In another place where the river was not frozen the party had to cut steps in the ice on the sides of cliffs for over a mile. One missstep would have resulted in death, as the party was then 200 feet above the river. Four men were badily frozen. In one section of twentythree miles it took the party fifty-four hours to travel over it. During September all communication with the outside world was cut off by the Columbia River, which rose 35 feet. Prof.
Nason intends to return to British Columbia next March.

Mrs. Contey Died of Cerebral Hemorrhage.

An autopsy yesterday on the body of Mrs. Bridget Conley, who died on Sunday night a her home, 45 Taylor street, Williamsburgh, of what the police thought were injuries she re-ceived at the hands of her husband, showed that death was due to cerebral hemorrhage, Conley is in the custody of Coroner Nason pend-ing an inquest.
